

Toy of the future

These days, kids want a toy that can walk, talk, dance, is interactive, and make money. I have created a toy that has all of those features except for the last one, the new Sega Dreamcast/turby complete with portable Sega Dreamcast Entertainment System, cd player, and walking, talking, dancing action! This extraordinary toy is solar powered and completely safe. Its outside is made of super thick, soft fur and rubber. But the best feature about this toy is that you can program it to do whatever you want! You can program it to be your life time slave or simply walk the dog. But treat it nicely because it has a real personality and emotions. In fact, this toy is the most advanced in the market. I have used a chip that only the US military has access to. How I got it: top secret. But I'll try to stay on the subject.

You might ask why I would put such advanced technology on the toy store shelves where little children will scream at their moms until they give in then, when they bring the toy home, the kid will pound it into little pebbles. Well, that's just because I like to make children happy. But these toys will be extremely rare, so don't count on getting a super low price or even getting one at all.

Well, I have pretty much told you all I know about this super cool invention, so have a nice day and remember, treat it nicely, and it'll treat you nicely!
